We, International Center for Biotechnology (ICBiotech), held the 9th Workshop on Collaboration between Osaka University (OU) and Japanese Companies for Global Human Resource Development (HRD). In the workshop, we introduced our activities on the international HRD, as well as Southeast Asian students in ICBiotech and the Graduate School of Engineering (Department of Biotechnology), to participants from biotechnology companies. As keynote lectures, former OU international students, who are now actively working in Japanese biotechnology companies, gave their talks and share their experiences in Japan. Students joined round-table meeting with participants from biotechnology companies and learned about their activities and how to apply their scholarly works in the real industry. Following mixer party gave us a chance to discuss on international HRD in a relaxed atmosphere.
