

Student Exchange Program (SSSV Program) supported by Japan Student Services Organization (JASSO) March FY2023

This program, known as the SSSV Program, is an international student exchanging program conducted in collaboration with a Thai academic consortium. The consortium comprises the top four universities in Thailand, Mahidol University, Chulalongkorn University, Kasetsart University, and KMUTT. The program also involves leading universities in ASEAN countries, including Vietnam, the Philippines, and Indonesia.

The SSSV Program receives financial support from the Student Exchange Support Program by JASSO. In the present program, four graduate students from Thailand were invited to Osaka University, where they studied for 25 days (refer to the next page) at ICBiotech and other biotechnology-related laboratories at Osaka University.

The students experienced advanced research and education in the field of biotechnology at Osaka University. This encompasses diverse topics such as biodiversity issues, intellectual property, and the practical application of biotechnology to foster a sustainable industry and society for the participants.
