ICBiotech field study program FY2024 (Scholarship for Short-term Study in Japan)

This program, known as the SSSV Program, is an international student exchanging program conducted in collaboration with a Thai academic consortium. The consortium comprises the top four universities in Thailand, Mahidol University, Chulalongkorn University, Kasetsart University, and KMUTT. The program also involves leading universities in ASEAN countries, including Vietnam, the Philippines, and Indonesia.

The SSSV Program receives financial support from the Student Exchange Support Program by JASSO, and the Field Study Program by ICBiotech. In the current fiscal year, eleven graduate students were invited to Osaka University, where they studied for approximately 40 days (refer to the next page). Concurrently, 24 students from Osaka University engaged in studies in Thailand.

In the in-bound program, where students from ASEAN countries come to Osaka, ICBiotech and other biotechnology-related laboratories at Osaka University offer advanced research and education. This encompasses diverse topics such as biodiversity issues, intellectual property, and the practical application of biotechnology to foster a sustainable industry and society for the participants.
